Pastor's Column - Oct. 6, 2012

Stewardship

Thank you God for the great gift of music.

At times in our life it can be awesome how music can touch our hearts. Music can touch us at times when we are experiencing the most wonderful, joyful times as well as reach us in the depths of our deepest sorrow as well as everything in between.

We have the ability of being swept up with moving music. We can be carried away from the confining boundaries of time. Music has this quality in common with deeply moving prayers. We are swept up and lost in the moment. We can lose the mundane boundaries of time to have a sweet experience of wasting time. To make time to waste it with the Lord is a beautiful way we can give back the gift of time the Lord has entrusted to us.

The musicians and vocalists at Mass have the opportunity to help us transform this time together, in our holy space, to a true celebration of the faith family. If you think about it the musician or vocalist has invested a great deal of time practicing developing their gift in order to have it.

Then they must take that same gift and prepare for the specific Mass that they are leading the music for. As Catholics we focus on the whole community entering into the prayer of music as opposed to a focus on a performance.

The faith family is always blessed when folks come forward to help us in this form of prayer. I have known many who started at a young age to help lead music in their parish and continued to share their gift for many decades.

We are truly thankful for those who are currently leading our music and we are always appreciative of those who are willing to come forward and share.

Peace in Christ,
Fr. Mike Murphy
